

"FATTY" ARBUCKLE CHARGED WITH MURDER

FUNERAL HELD FOR BOY VICTIM OF AUTOMOBILE

Interment of Lloyd Russell Fatally Hurt Saturday Afternoon in Fairview

DRIVER IS NOT BLAMED

Boy Playing With Hoop Runs in Street and is Run Over by Automobile

The last sad rites over the lifeless form of little brown-eyed Lloyd Russell, fatally injured under the wheels of a heavy automobile late Saturday, were held at 2:30 this afternoon in the Perry Undertaking parlors. Rev. H. C. Postlethwaite, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, where the little boy attended Sunday School, officiated. Henry Halverson sang. Interment was in Fairview cemetery.

Among those who gathered with saddened countenances to pay a silent tribute to Lloyd were playmates and schoolmates—Lloyd had started to school in the first grade of the Will school just last week. Groups of little boys and girls in the neighborhood of the Russell home, 44 Rosser street, pointed out the house this morning as they passed on their way to school and talked in hushed tones of the tragedy which robbed them of one of their most popular playmates.

Ran Into Street

The accident happened on First street, between Thayer and Broadway, about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. According to the account of the accident obtained by John Russell, the boy's father, Lloyd and "Sunny" the Minnover were playing in a yard. Walter Leroy, of Underwood, was driving a touring car slowly, going south on First street. Lloyd was playing with a hoop and it started downhill out of the yard, gathering momentum and Lloyd striving to keep up with it. Mr. Leroy told Mr. Russell that the boy came out in the street like a flash. He struck a fender of the automobile, and crumpled up under the wheels. A front wheel is believed to have passed over his right shoulder while a heavy rear wheel crushed his abdomen. Mr. Leroy stopped, picked the boy up, hurried to a doctor's office and then with the doctor rushed the boy to the Bismarck hospital. He was too badly crushed to survive the shock, and passed away in about a half hour.

Driver Not Blamed

Mr. Russell said that he could not blame Mr. Leroy for the accident, and no one was more shocked by the tragedy than Mr. Leroy, whose own children are in the Bismarck schools. Mr. Leroy farms considerable land near Underwood but lives here.

Lloyd Russell was five years old—he would have reached his sixth milestone on the sixth day of October. His father, mother, two brothers, John, 10, and Mervyn, 8, survive. J. I. Roop is the boy's grandfather. Many relatives and friends from out of the city came here to attend the funeral, among them Norman Roop, banker, of Plaster, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Armstrong, of Hazelton, and Mrs. Edward Savage, of Bradstock. Several residents of Hazelton came here today for the funeral. Mrs. Russell having formerly lived in that place.

SAYS RAILROADS JOIN TO HURT U. S. SHIP BOARD

Washington, Sept. 12.—Charges that secret agreements between American railroads and foreign shipping companies have caused the great bulk of the shipping board tonnage to be tied up for want of cargoes were made in a report sent by Senator Jones to Washington to Chairman Lasker.

ONE AMERICAN PROPERTY NOT NATIONALIZED

Moscow, Sept. 12.—Leonid Krassin, Soviet trade representative, said the Westinghouse electric factory was the only American property not nationalized by the Soviet government.

OIL COMPANY NAMES OFFICERS

Dickinson, Sept. 12.—A. C. Pagenkopf of Dickinson was given a place on the board of directors of the New England Petroleum company, succeeding E. J. Strack, at an adjourned meeting of the annual meeting of the stockholders held in New England theater. All other officers and directors were re-elected as follows:

President—Dr. George A. Sargent, New England.

Vice President—H. A. Borchering, New England.

Secretary—J. R. Chalmers, New England.

Treasurer—Charles Simon, New England.

Director—A. C. Pagenkopf, Dickinson.

The meeting was largely attended with the big theater of New England being filled to capacity with stockholders. There were about twenty stockholders from Dickinson present. The meeting also made several minor alterations in the by-laws of the corporation.

FIRST STEEL SPAN OF MISSOURI RIVER BRIDGE IS JOINED TODAY

The first steel span of the Missouri river bridge was connected at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

The work of erecting the huge steel beams, 800 tons of steel in all, was completed without an accident or any serious delay. Bridge men are satisfied with the progress. There is yet the riveting, painting, laying of the concrete floor and sidewalk to be done.

With the joining of the steel beams of the first span work will be started immediately on the erection of the false work on the second span. There are three spans in all, and if the progress made in the last several days is maintained in the subsequent work it is expected that all the steel work will be completed by November. Practically all of the steel necessary for the other two spans is on the ground.

The erection of the first span now enables one to picture accurately the bridge when finished. The great steel arches tower above the roadway on the south side to a height of about 70 feet, and the topmost point on the steel work is about 120 feet above the water.

The superstructure is being erected by the American Bridge company.

U. S. ATTITUDE ON LEAGUE IS AGAIN DEBATED

French Representative Thinks U. S. Will Not Ignore League of Nations

HEAR VILNA DISPUTE

Geneva, Sept. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Members of the assembly of the league of nations met early today in an effort to finish debate on the report of the secretariat of the league.

The council of the league met today and heard delegations from Poland and Lithuania argue the contentions of their respective countries in their dispute over the Vilna district which is claimed by both.

Leon Bourgeois, of France, in the debate this morning said there were no reasons for the league to be alarmed by the coming disarmament conference at Washington.

"The league respects nationalization," he said, "and recognizes that those who are outside as well as those who are inside the league have the right to occupy themselves with the great question of disarmament."

"It was not to be expected," added Mr. Bourgeois, "that a country which sent 2,000,000 men across the Atlantic to fight for liberty would afterward renounce a part in future affairs."

Mr. Bourgeois cited the presence in Geneva of the numerous correspondents of the American press as evidence of interest in the league.

Referring to the dissatisfaction of some with the Aland Islands award made under the league jurisdiction, Mr. Bourgeois agreed with the sentiment expressed by A. J. Balfour of Great Britain that it was impossible to please both sides in such controversies.

U. S. SUES FOR PASTURE RENT TO SID PARKINS

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 12.—The federal government through the office of Col. M. A. Hildebrecht, district attorney, has instituted action against the holders of mortgages in the Sid Parkins cattle case. The action is to enjoin the mortgagees from selling the cattle as the government has a lien on the state for unpaid pasture rent. The cattle were pastured in Standing Rock Indian Reservation land leased from the government.

The mortgagees, according to Judge S. L. Nichols, assistant district attorney, have agreed that if the government will not stop the sale they would put up a bond of $7,000 to pay the rent to the government if the court decides that the lien for rent comes ahead of the mortgages to other people.

The defendants in the action have 30 days in which to answer the government.

ARMY ROMANCE IS SHATTERED; WIFE IS GONE

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 12.—The romance of Mrs. Emily Knowles Spiker, which created a sensation two years ago when as the mother of Fearly Spiker's child, she came to America from England to wed his brother, Guy, has been shattered. Mrs. Spiker, who lived with Guy Spiker in last Baltimore, has disappeared.

She left a note saying she no longer cared to live with Guy.

The child, adopted by Pearly Spiker's wife when she forgave him for infidelity while overseas with the American army, is at her home.

8 MEN ROBBED, KICKED OFF N. P. FREIGHT TRAIN

About $500 is Obtained by Bandits in Robbery Near Medina Sunday Night

ONE IS BADLY INJURED

Also Are Bruised When Forced to Jump or Are Kicked Off Fast Moving Train

Seven of eight harvest workers who were held up and robbed of about $500 on a Northern Pacific freight train near Medina last night and then kicked off the fast-moving train, arrived in Bismarck early this afternoon.

One of the eight is in Medina under a doctor's care badly injured. All were more or less bruised.

Authorities all along the Northern Pacific were notified. Chief of Police Martinson here this afternoon, in an effort to locate the robbers, sent out calls to many officers to watch for the men.

Loses $865

Albin Rudquist, of Glendive, Montana, wearing a soldier's uniform, was robbed of $865 and some change which he had in a pocket, while others of the eight were robbed of varying amounts, the largest being $40. The robbers also stole a watch from Rudquist and took a watch from one of the other men.

According to the story told by these arriving here, three men climbed in the box car in which the eight were riding when the freight train stopped near Medina to permit No. 3 to pass it, about 10 o'clock Sunday night.

The three men drew their guns and forced the eight men to stand with their faces against the boxcar wall. All were searched.

During the robbery, in which each of the three holdup men brandished a revolver, two of the eight were struck with revolvers.

ROOT DECLINES TO BE JUSTICE OF WORLD COURT

Age Bars Him From Considering Position, He Tells American Observer

Geneva, Sept. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Elihu Root has definitely declined to be considered for election as judge of the international court of justice. In a cablegram to Dr. M. O. Hugon, who is here in the capacity of American observer, Mr. Root declared he will be unable to serve on the court because of his age, 76 years.

The refusal of Mr. Root is said to increase the chance of either John Bassett Moore or Prof. Roscoe Pound, two other Americans nominated for the court, to be elected.

NAMED HONORARY PRESIDENT.

Geneva, Sept. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gustav Ador, former president of Switzerland, was elected honorary president of the assembly of the League of Nations today.

HALIFAX FEARS NEW DISASTER

Explosion of Oil Tanks Causes Evacuation of Half City

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 12.—Explosion of five tanks of the Imperial Oil company's plant at Dartmouth on the east side of Halifax harbor early today with rumblings that were felt in this city caused the evacuation of half the homes in Halifax. Those who had gone through the explosion of December, 1917, when the munitions ship, Mount Blencoe, blew up and wrecked a third of Halifax with loss of 1,200 lives thought it was another such disaster. Indications were that there had been neither loss of life nor serious injury in today's explosion.

BRIDGE BREAK COSTS 24 LIVES

Chester, Pa., Sept. 12.—Twenty-four persons were drowned and five seriously injured in the collapse of the bridge spanning the Chesapeake river, according to the police.

HORSES BEING SHIPPED

Dickinson, N. D., Sept. 12.—Thousands of head of light horses are now being shipped from points on the south slope to St. Louis, Mo. markets, where they are bringing from $25 to $50 per head. Considerable money is being brought into the country through this source.

PICTURES WORLD WAR OVER IRISH QUESTION IF BRITAIN TRIES TO RESTRICT NEW ULSTER PARLIAMENT

Belfast, Sept. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Any attempt by Great Britain to restrict the rights of the new Ulster parliament might result in war that might include the United States and British colonies.

This was the substance of warnings by Hugh MacNeill, speaker of the parliament, in an address at Belfast yesterday.

Civil war in Ireland could be the first result of such action, he said.

"The war would become worldwide," he continued. "Hundreds of thousands of people from Great Britain and the Empire would support neither Ireland and there would be hundreds of thousands of people from the United States and possibly from the British colonies and dependencies who would come to the aid of southern Ireland. In brief, there would be a world war which would engulf Great Britain and the United States and a world spread horror over the earth."

LUCKY GARDNER HELD IN CELL FOR DEATH OF MOVIE ACTRESS

"LUCKY" GARDNER.

Formal Charge is Preferred Against Motion Picture Actor

CASE UP TO GRAND JURY

Coroner Reports Girl Dies of Injuries Inflicted by Famous Comedian

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—A formal complaint charging murder was sworn to before Police Judge Daniel O'Brien against Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, a motion picture actress. The complaint was signed by Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, a friend of the dead actress. Arbuckle appeared in court to be arraigned on the charge sworn to by Mrs. Delmont at the request of the district attorney. The case was continued until Friday and Arbuckle was taken back to his cell.

Miss Rappe, who died Friday, was removed from Arbuckle's rooms in a hotel last Monday in a critical condition after a party at which five men and four women were present. Autopsy surgeons said death was due to peritonitis, superinduced by an internal injury.

Assistant District Attorney Milton O'Brien said that the charge of murder was based on a section of the penal code directing that such charge be made in cases where death resulted from a felony—in this instance, alleged actual or attempted assault.

Accompanied by his attorney, Arbuckle came here by automobile Saturday night from Los Angeles, and went at once to police headquarters. He was questioned by detectives for several hours, but on advice of his attorneys he refused to talk. At midnight, Captain Mathewson ordered him booked for murder. Arbuckle lost his usual jaunty manner. When newspaper photographers asked him to smile he said:

"Not on an occasion of this sort."

All today Arbuckle persisted in refusing to answer questions of the police and his attorney declined to discuss the case.

Miss Rappe was 25 years of age and was born in Chicago. She attracted attention in that city in 1913, it is said, by advice to young women to create original methods of making a living. She was then making $4,000 a year as a traveling art model, one said. Miss Rappe came to San Francisco in 1915, and for a time designed gowns and wore them as a model. She began acting in motion pictures in Los Angeles in 1917 and took leading parts in several. Her mother is dead.

Arbuckle was born in Kansas thirty-four years ago. When eight years old he appeared as a pickaninny in a stock company at Santa Ana, Cal., for fifty cents a night. Ten years later he received $17.50 a week for singing popular songs in a San Jose, Cal., vaudeville house. That was his first regular theatrical engagement. Afterward he sang in Portland, Ore., burlesque theater, and later was a dancer in Oakland, Cal.

Arbuckle's first motion picture work was as an extra man for companies producing slap stick comedies. It paid him $3 a day. Since then he has produced many film plays as head of his own companies.

ENGAGED TO MISS RAPPE

New York, Sept. 12.—Henry Lehman, motion picture director, who was engaged to Virginia Rappe, the film actress, for whose death Roscoe Arbuckle is held in San Francisco, today said he would devote every moment he could spare from his business to pressing the comedian's prosecution.

CANCEL ARBUCKLE FILM

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 12.—The latest film production featuring Roscoe Arbuckle, held in jail in San Francisco, was cancelled last night at one of the largest local motion picture houses. The film had been showing all week and last night was to have been its final appearance.

Sid Grauman, owner of the theater, declined to comment on the cancellation. No explanation was made when another film was substituted for the Arbuckle.

No Arbuckle films were advertised by any local houses today. At the Famous Players-Lasky film exchange, distributors of Arbuckle films, it was stated there had been no cancellations as far as was known there and at present it was not contemplated to discontinue booking them.

BARS FILMS

Medford, Mass., Sept. 12.—Mayor Machin today notified all motion picture houses in this city that films of Roscoe Arbuckle would be barred from the city.

Arbuckle's case had been disposed of in the court. In one picture house an Arbuckle picture was withdrawn on the mayor's orders.

INVENTS TEST FOR SILKWORMS

Nanking, Sept. 12.—Prof. C. C. Chen of the College of Agriculture and Forestry, University of Nanking has invented a new method of testing for silkworm diseases. It is believed may support existing methods of testing for silkworm diseases.

There have been two methods of testing for silkworm diseases. One is by taste and the other by touch. The European method is said to be superior to the Chinese method. Prof. Chen's new method is said to be superior to both of these.

HARDING TO AID VETS, HE SAYS

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 12.—President Harding promised the first and his power to appoint executive officers in an address to Congress at its fifth day, at Albany.

BOBBED HAIR OLD AS HILLS SAYS AUTHORITY

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Bobbied hair concealed ears short, knits and the other traits and features associated with modern women's styles are as old as the pyramids, it is said in a minute story told by the mummies at both Egypt and Peru in the Field Museum.

Wrapped in their painted shrouds and encased in sarcophagi covered with curious paintings and hieroglyphs in colors still bright after three thousand years and more, these mummies all that was more than a mummy being of ages ago is still the present to a civilization and a new dead. The daily center of thousands of curious eyes for the mummies seem to hold a strange fascination for every visitor to the museum. They are silent spectators of the passing throngs, but the paintings which adorn their resting places tell more plainly than words of styles, customs and manners of a forgotten age.

Why, may they be so dead just like the girls we see on Michigan Boulevard? exclaimed an aged visitor to his wife as he gazed at the strange figures, admiring the sarcophagi.

It appears like they did not wear a lot more than the do now, the woman answered as the pair moved away.

It is a far cry from the Nile or Cleopatra's day to the Pacific coast of Peru in South America, but mummies from both regions lying almost within reach of each other now, but in ignorance of each other's existence bear striking evidence of the greatest similarity and proficiency in many arts at a time when the Norsemen were ravaging all of Southern Europe and the old world had almost sunk into barbarism. Dr. J. Alden Mason, Assistant Curator of Mexican and South American Anthropology at the Museum has prepared an outline of the known history of the Peruvian mummies.

Both mummies in every way known to the modern textile artist and modern in some cases finer than are duplicated today by the best mechanical means and the most skilled artisans. Their pottery is unsurpassed even today in its type and their work in gold and copper challenges the modern craftsman. Unlike the Egyptians, the Peruvians used no process of embalming, but so dry were the sands of certain of their deserts that the dry bodies with their wrappings around them have been preserved perfectly to this day with the objects placed around them.

Near the town of Arica on the coast of Peru was found the greatest cemetery of these people, a great desert waste, no evidence of occupation is seen on the surface. Even when the first Spanish conqueror passed this way in 1533 every vestige of human occupation had entirely disappeared and the location of the town was quite forgotten. It was not until about seventy years ago that the first graves were discovered and in half a century they have yielded fortunes to treasure seekers who despoiled them to recover the golden ornaments left beside the bodies.

And now the mummies of both of these peoples tell of strange similarities in style, adornment, manners and industries to those of the present generation. It is a linking of the past to the present which holds a peculiar attraction for the mummies lying in silent state are the most popular exhibit for the thousands of visitors who daily crowd the museum.

HOW'D YOU LIKE TO SLEEP HERE?

A three-car electric freight train jumped the track at Springfield, Mass., and tore away part of the Victoria Hotel. How would you like to have been a guest there? Notice that the front slid down leaving the beds exposed to the air and the public gaze.

DAIRYING AT PENITENTIARY PROVES PAYING PROPOSITION, RECORDS SHOW

The dairy department of the state penitentiary has furnished the Tribune some interesting facts as revealed by their records showing the quantity and quality of milk production by the herd and the cost of time.

The present dairymen was placed in charge of the department some ten months ago. During that period a complete system of records has been installed, including identification tags and descriptions as well as a picture of drawing of each animal.

The herd consists of pure bred Holsteins, well graded Holsteins, and a few Pol Angus. The milk from each cow is weighed, tested, milked and a record kept thereof. A sample of each cow's milk is tested monthly by the state dairy commission, which test is also recorded. In this way the production of each cow for the month or year may be determined and the "boarders" (cattle and butchers) from January 1, 1921 to July 1, 1921 the herd produced in average of 10 lbs. (nearly four gallons) of milk per day for each cow—which included several boarders the previous records not being sufficient to identify them. The average test for butter fat was 16 lbs. or 165 lbs. butter fat per cow for the six month period. Nor were the conditions favorable for high production, the hay and silage not being the best and the grain not being a balanced ration. Nevertheless this record compares favorably with the production of the previous five years for the same period, being an increase of 40 to 50 per cent for the various years.

The cost of production averaged 24 1/2 cents per day per cow for feed (silage hay and grain) for the winter months. This is less than a cent a pound for the milk produced and shows what can be made in dairying in this section of the country. Of course pasture would be the only cost for the summer months, no grain being fed. Two registered Holstein bulls are at the head of the herd.

WAR RISK MONEY MAKE RECIPIENT RICHEST IN TOWN

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—An old peasant woman was made the richest woman in her village by a letter from the War Risk Insurance Bureau of the American Government. The incident is told by a member of the Friends' Relief Mission in Poland who writes:

"We were just driving into the town of Hrabieszow in the war-ravaged district of Poland when a peasant woman, clad in rags and barefooted, came up to the wagon and presented a letter which she could not read. It proved to be from the War Risk Insurance Bureau at Washington stating that her son had died in the American army and that his insurance would come to her for 20 years at the rate of $25 a month. Already there was $900 waiting for her which would be sent shortly by check.

The woman's face was shadowed as she heard of her son's death but it brightened with amazement when she heard of the money. The son had not been heard from for three years and his death had been taken for granted. She had other children and they had all been living in a dugout with no wood for building a house and no implements to farm with and only a diet of rye and potatoes.

The $900 in American money makes at the present rate of exchange over 1,500,000 Polish marks and would make her the richest woman in the village and probably in the country.

I consulted the postmaster for her and he said that when she made her mark upon the check the local bank would pay her the money, only of course no local bank would be able to cash so large a check without first getting the money from Warsaw.

This is a fair example of the difference in exchange between America and Poland.

SOUND PROOF APARTMENTS FOR NERVOUS ARTISTS

New York, Sept. 10.—Sound proof rooms for nervous artists are the latest in New York hotel service. One manager has installed one on the top floor of his hotel for the use of artist guests and the innovation has become so popular that reservations for its use have to be made several days in advance.

Singers, composers and actors and an occasional versatile have found there the noiseless atmosphere so stimulating to the artistic imagination. High C or any other strong note may be reached by the singer without fear that a vibrating paneled riveter next door will break in and spoil the performance.

Not the merest shadow of a sound can sneak in to play the mischief when the creative artist is engaged in cultivating the muse. Serves fangled by the clamor and strain of city life are soothed by silence and patrons of the sound proof room say they don't see how they ever could exist before.

There are no windows in the room and the door is of the heavy type. The room is ventilated by means of special devices which noiselessly let in fresh air and draw out the used air in the same manner.

Experiment proved that an ordinary noise could begin to penetrate the specially constructed walls of the room. The walls were stuffed the night before it even got started. A heavy yellow in the outside corridor died in the partition before reaching the stage of adolescence. Even a squad of window washers with rattling ladders and jangling tin buckets failed to register on the calm inside the room.

A mob of angry patrons throwing empty ash cans in an area was suggested as the supreme test of the noise-smothering qualities of the apartment but the builders claimed that wasn't necessary.

Several delicate spirits who claimed they couldn't find any place in the city where they could hear themselves think have made reservations of the room.

The furnishings are simple. A few creosote chairs luxuriously upholstered and a heavy study table rest on a thick carpet in which the feet sink without a sound. A grand piano stands in one corner. The walls and ceiling are done in a flat dove-gray without a bit of color or any kind to disturb the quiet neutrality of the room's atmosphere.

San Francisco, Mo., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Edwin J. Edman, a fox terrier, winning double the bet of her. She is a little over a year old, with a white coat, and is very smart. She is a favorite with the children and is a great help to her mother in the kitchen. She is a very good dog and is a great help to her mother in the kitchen.

ASK FINANCES IN EQUITY FIGHT

Fargo, Sept. 10.—An appeal for funds to defray expenses of the action to oust the officers and directors of the Equity Co-operative Packing Company of Fargo was made yesterday in a statement signed by Charles E. Brown, C. W. Reichert and James Hobbs.

A temporary injunction has been secured restraining the directors and officers from further management of the company and ordering them to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent. Charges of mismanagement resulting in a loss of stockholders were made against the heads of the company.

EDUCATOR TO VISIT

Minot, N. D., Sept. 10.—Dr. F. C. Gade of Christiania, Norway, president of the Nordmandsforbundet, a literary and historic association of Norwegians, which has members in all parts of the world, leaves Norway Sept. 30 for a two months visit in the United States. He is expected to reach Minot some time in November and the Minot Sons of Norway lodge is planning an elaborate reception for him.

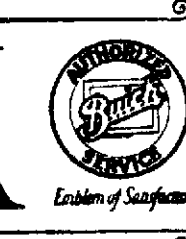

"SCHOOL DAYS, SCHOOL DAYS"

Do you remember the old song about school days being golden rule days? It is wrong to send a coughing, sneezing, spitting child to school to spread disease germs among other little ones. Common colds are infectious. Protect your own and other little ones with Foley's Honey and Tar. This safe family remedy checks coughs and colds, loosens phlegm and mucous and coats raw irritating membranes with a healing soothing medicine. Adv.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, makes the following announcement:

"In making another reduction in the prices of Ford cars and the Ford truck, the new prices average $70.00 under former prices, and are the lowest at which Ford cars and trucks have ever been sold. List prices, F. O. B. Detroit, are now as follows:

| | Amount of | New Price | Old Price | Reduction |
|-------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
| Chassis | | $295 | $345 | $50 |
| Runabout | | 325 | 370 | 45 |
| Touring car | | 355 | 415 | 60 |
| Truck | | 445 | 495 | 50 |
| Coupe | | 595 | 695 | 100 |
| Sedan | | 660 | 760 | 100 |

"This is the third price cut during the past twelve months. On September 22, 1920, the price of the Ford touring car was reduced from $575 to $440; June 7th to $415, and now to $355, making total reductions in this type of $220, or 38 per cent. The same proportionate reductions have been made in all other types. One year ago the price of the Ford Sedan was $975; today it lists at $660 with the same equipment.

"We are taking advantage of every known economy in the manufacture of our products in order that we may give them to the public at the lowest possible price, and by doing that, we feel that we are doing the one big thing that will help this country into more prosperous times. People are interested in prices, and are buying when prices are right.

"The production of Ford cars and trucks for August again broke all previous high records with the total reaching 117,696. This is the fourth consecutive month in which our output has gone over the hundred thousand mark, the total for the four months being 463,074, which has gone a long way in making possible the present reductions. June this year, with an output of 117,247 was the previous record month.

"One noteworthy feature of our sales is the increased demand for Ford trucks and cars for salesmen. This class of commercial business has been gradually increasing the past sixty days and we interpret it as a very good sign of improvement in general business.

"No reduction has been made in the price of the Fordson tractor, and none is contemplated."

Go over these new prices! See how little it costs to become the owner of a Ford car or a Ford truck. Can you really afford to do without one any longer? Let us tell you more about it, and advise you regarding the delivery of the particular type of car in which you are interested.

Carlson vs. Heil the 15th and the winner to play an All Star Indian team the 16th.

Arrangements have been made to have a merry-go-round all three days. A tree movie on the 16th which will be of particular interest to the children and horse races foot races and novelty contests of various kinds will be the program of the day. Three days of wholesome amusement and agricultural exhibition. Plan to attend and not only that, see that you have a part in making this truly the one great event of the season.

WOMAN DENIED COMPENSATION FOR SON'S DEATH

Fargo, Sept. 12—Mrs. Enga Anderson was denied compensation for the death of her son John William Anderson in a decision in district court by Judge M. J. Englert of Valley City, today. The boy died as result of being struck by a school playground swing. The mother brought action against the city for $25,000 damages. The decision holds that the city cannot be held liable to injuries to a public school pupil through any negligence or fault of the board of education.

A CAPTIVE OF CURIOSITY!

Three-year-old Joseph Wizbitski, of Cleveland, stuck his little hand in an open fireplug. Jes' curious! A spring on the inside of the tap held the hand tight. It took policemen and firemen three hours and a half to get it out. Then they had to crack the plug with a sledge hammer. In the meantime Joseph laughed, cried and slept, as he lay on a pillow in his mother's lap.

Don't be content with "Hobson's Choice"

More than a hundred years ago, Toby Hobson of Cambridge kept the only horses for hire in town. But his customers had no choice save to take the horse nearest the door, whether little or much to their liking.

So "Hobson's Choice" has come to mean: "Take this or none!"

Today, through the advertisements in this and other papers, you have all the world to choose from. Yes, through Advertisements, the world comes to your door with its wares. Advertisements give you the opportunity for comparison and selection of almost anything you want or need.

Advertisements are an accurate index of what other people are buying, selling, wearing, eating, doing, learning; of what the world is accomplishing and how, where, and by whom it is being accomplished.

Form the habit of reading advertisements just as regularly as you read the front page. You will find it profitable and mightily interesting as well.

THE LOST TUNE
How long is it since you heard a rollicking crowd burst forth into melodious strains of that bar-room classic: "We Won't Go Home Until Morning"?

That song was buried with John Barleycorn. And so exits the most famous tune in the world—sung in every civilized country. The tune was brought back from the Holy Land, by Crusaders, seven centuries ago. The Arabs, from whom they got it, said it was as old as the history of the Orient.
But when one's engine is running on buttermilk instead of alcohol, it's rather funereal to try to put any pep-and-go into "We Won't Go Home Until Morning" or its companion chorus, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The history of this famous song illustrates how ancient is the origin of some of the things we consider modern. Also, the changes worked in an original by successive periods of history.
When the Arabs sang the song 700 years ago, it was about a desert chieftain named Malbrook.
When the English, during the reign of Queen Anne, fought the French in Flanders, over 200 years ago, they were led by the Duke of Marlborough. The taunting French paraphrased the Malbrook song like this:

Marlborough, prince of commanders,
Has gone to the war in Flanders;
His fame is like Alexander's,
But when will he come home?

He won't come home until morning,
He won't come home until morning,
He won't come home until morning,
Till daylight doth appear.

That made the English mad. They changed the parody and added a new chorus:
Marlborough, prince of commanders,
Has conquered the French in Flanders;
His fame is like Alexander's,
And he's the best of all.

For he's a jolly good fellow,
For he's a jolly good fellow,
For he's a jolly good fellow,
And so say all of us.

Marie Antoinette lulled her baby son to sleep with this famous song. Charlotte Corday, the assassin of Marat, was fond of it. Napoleon sang and whistled it in his dark hours, which in turn induced Beethoven to use it in his "Battle Symphony" in 1813.
The world's people, as well as hundreds of great historical personages, took this tune to their hearts.
It was the basis of "Me Father an' Mother Were Irish."
Whistle in Turkey or Finland and natives will join in.
Nothing in the history of music ever approached it for universal popularity.

CIVIL SERVICE
Clock-watching in Washington is attributed by many to faults in our civil service system.
In trying to do away with the spoils system, civil service advocates have gone too far the other way.
Under present conditions a man or woman may be inefficient, but so long as he is prompt, keeps up a good personal appearance and retains his good character, he cannot be removed.
Not only that, but the inefficient employe must be promoted in preference to the efficient employe, if he's been in the government service longer.
One remedy would be to empower the office chief to remove any inefficient employe, leaving it to the department head to employ a man to fill the dismissed employe's place.
This would prevent an office chief from removing employes to make way for relatives and personal friends and would enable him to remove dead wood.

SEIZURE
New York City arrests policemen who search homes for liquor without a court order.
What can a man do in his home? What can't he do? When should the law step over the threshold? Old Anglo-Saxon common law said, "A man's home is his castle. Not even the king can enter it."
"Search and seizure," with or without warrant, will soon be the real battle of the prohibition movement.
What will happen if a federal law against search without warrant comes in conflict with state search-and-seizure laws? The question of state rights has never been settled, though the Civil War was fought over it.

MORTGAGE
To pay off war debts, all nations must reduce their standards of living, possibly even below pre-war levels, predicts Achille Viallate, French economist.
His argument is, that to pay off a mortgage you have to deny yourself. Also, that a national debt is a mortgage and can be met only in the same way an individual handles an obligation.
Viallate is wrong.
A mortgage can be paid off by self-denial. That's true. But it can also be paid off, without self-denial, by increasing your earning power. That will require harder work—increased production. It's only a question of time until everyone sees this truth. It's the only way to keep the standard of living up.

HAIG'S BOOK
Field Marshal Haig, who commanded the British forces in France during the greater part of the war, has refused to write a book about the war, giving the very sensible reason that it is impossible to do the subject justice so soon after the event. He has turned over to the British Museum all his notes and documents with instructions that they are not to be opened until 1940.
If any remain who have an intention of writing their wartime experiences, let's hope they will follow Haig's example.

STENOGRAPHERS
Typewriters run by electricity are put on the market in Berlin. No hammering the keys. Just touch them and the current does the rest.
That's good news for typists, who in running a typewriter daily use up enough energy to shovel half a ton of coal.
Mechanical inventions are in their infancy. Future man will have an easy life, machines doing the work, run by electricity taken from the air.

EDITORIAL REVIEW
Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

CANADA'S PUBLIC-OWNED RAILWAYS
Private-owned railroads of the United States are not alone in the matter of financial stress. The public-owned railways of Canada are deep in trouble, as shown by the report of Sir Joseph Flavelle to Premier Meighen. Sir Joseph charges up these troubles largely to mistakes of policy by past governments, to lack of interest by the people in the success of their own railroad property and to the blighting effect of "politics" manifesting itself in various ways.
Far from paying their own operating expenses, the Canadian National railways fell short of this achievement by $32,656,000 last year, and Sir Joseph says there will be another heavy deficit this year—a deficit that will have to come out of the pockets of the taxpayers. The public treasury must meet this loss—probably about $10,000,000—and it must also pay out of its coffers about $37,000,000 in fixed charges, such as interest on bonds and debentures. There is an additional charge of $10,000,000 on public accounts against the roads and for further capital expenditure for indispensable terminals. Summing up, the Canadians have or soon will have a public-owned railway system against which there will be annual fixed charges of approximately $50,000,000 which, in the absence of an operating surplus, will have to come out of the pockets of the people in the form of taxes.

These figures are only in part an indictment against public-owned railroads in Canada. More significant than the figures themselves to the average American is that government ownership of railroads in Canada has not taken the roads out of "Politics." Note these words from Sir Joseph:

Parliament will not contract itself out of responsibility to examine critically the estimates for railway administration submitted to the House. It has yet to be demonstrated; however, that it will bring to the consideration of the estimates and review of the work of the management a temper and a sense of fairness which is associated with the successful administration of private enterprises. I do not venture an opinion as to what will happen to these great properties if "politics" will not permit and Parliament and the Press will not allow the necessary freedom and will not give the necessary support to the administration of public-owned railways.
There is more than an intimation in Sir Joseph's comment that it is next to impossible to procure competent executives to operate the government railways because of the hampering influences of "politics" and the disposition of both public men and private citizens to make the operation of these roads a target for bitter adverse criticism.
The theorist friend of government ownership will say that there should be an end of such "politics" and that the people should "boost" rather than "knock" their own property. Beautiful, but just how is the theorist going to theorize into the web and woof of human nature the virtues he preaches? When he surmounts that little difficulty he may be able to demonstrate that government ownership is worth while.—Minneapolis Tribune.

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH SOMEONE IS GOING TO GET MUSSUP

RECALL CAULDRON

(By the Pot Boiler)
It is refreshing to read editorial comment found this week in the Fargo Forum and the Minnott County Record. Despite the fact that these papers take an honest difference of opinion with the Tribune upon the propriety and expediency of the recall and I. V. A. program there is no cheap effort to attack our motives. It is impossible to have complete agreement upon the political issues. The Tribune has no quarrel with those who believe that the recall and the I. V. A. program spell salvation with a capital S for the State of North Dakota and it is more than pleased to reprint below two of the most temperate editorials upon the issues of the day that have appeared.
The Fargo Forum under the caption: "Salvage Not Sabotage," has this to say:
"Getting a state out of industry like getting a state out of war is a much more difficult, trying and expensive proposition than getting it in.
"We think that peace was far harder to achieve than war.
"And here in North Dakota we will find that it is much harder to get out of the various industrial enterprises we have undertaken than to get into them.
"It will cost a lot of money, and it will take a lot of time, patience and energy.
"You can't simply make an oratorical gesture and say the state is 'through with socialism.'
"That is the only quarrel The Forum has with the Bismarck Tribune for its opposition to the initiated laws and the recall.
"Nobody is more eager to get the state out of business than The Forum, but we are facing conditions and not a theory in North Dakota. We have a lot of money sunk in various bankrupt enterprises. If we simply turn our backs on them and forget them, we will lose every penny. The Forum many months ago denounced a program of 'salvage, not sabotage.' It still believes that is the only possible and sane program to follow in regard to the state industries, and each industry presents a separate and distinct program. We will have to decide what to do with each one of them.
"The Bank of North Dakota, for example, should be closed at once and a receiver appointed. The mill and elevator problem is more complicated. It requires the careful study of men who know the milling business. Certainly it is a total loss unless completed by somebody, either the state or some farmers' organization to which it can be turned over.
"The I. V. A. program is not usual perhaps. The ideals is rather hard to achieve in this human and imperfect world. But surely it will get the state out of business far faster than the present administration will.
"And meanwhile some of the boys are in danger of losing their tempers and saying things about each other they will regret. The independent newspapers of the state have been through too many hard fights together, and taken too many kickings together, to get into a jangle now when victory is in sight."
Frank Streeter, Independent Candidate for Lieutenant Governor, at the last Republican Primary, and editor of the Minnott County Record is perfectly honest in his comment, which follows:
"Some weeks ago the Record prophesied that it would not be long until the political situation would be so complicated that only the most observing could possibly keep track of what is going on, and that the Nonpartisan League, per se, would cease to be a determining factor.
"Late developments would indicate that we are not far from wrong. The last stage of the recall campaign has been reached, and we find some surprising situations developing. For instance, leading state independent papers have turned their eyes for the moment from the common enemy and are busy throwing mud at each other. The Bismarck Tribune, always an ardent opponent of the League forces, is in effect in the league camp on the recall question. The Tribune is opposed to the recall, and refuses to support the recall candidates. Therefore, it is in effect supporting the Frazier administration. Other state dailies have more or less gently slap-ter, which is just as bad as putting the cart before the horse. You may know about Cap'n Pennywinkle. Well, Briny Ocean would be the most mixed up place in the world, were it not for the order he keeps.

MANDAN NOTES
LAY CORNERSTONE OCTOBER 3
The cornerstone of the Methodist Episcopal church, which is now in course of construction, will be laid October 3. Bishop Charles Wesley Burns of Helena, Mont., has accepted an invitation to deliver the dedicatory address and lay the cornerstone of the new church. Invitations have been extended to all Methodist pastors in the district to attend the services and receive the greetings of the bishop.
The work on the church has been progressing rapidly and it is expected that all brick work will be finished by time for the dedication. The new church will be one of the finest in the state and when completed will represent a total investment of $50,000.
RETURNS FROM FRANCE
Mrs. J. M. Hanley received a wireless message Saturday morning from her husband, Major J. M. Hanley, who has been in France with the delegation of the American Legion, advising that he was enroute home and would arrive in New York today on the steamer Leopoldine.
Major Hanley was the only representative from North Dakota to join the American Legion party which attended the unveiling ceremonies of the Flirey monument and other inter-allied ceremonies in France. He left about five weeks ago.
Mrs. Harvey H. Williams and Mrs. Cleve Kennelly entertained eighteen young ladies Friday evening at the home of the former at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Margaret Kennelly, who is to be married in the near future to Claude Funder of this city. The rooms were prettily decorated in pink and white and the evening was passed at novelty games. The bride-to-be was presented with many beautiful gifts. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.
Ralph Hansen, who is taking a vocational course in architecture at the state agricultural college, was returned home from Fargo for a two weeks' vacation.
N. P. Agent H. G. Taylor has left for Panama City, Florida, where he was called by the sudden death of his father, H. G. Taylor, Sr.
Mrs. F. L. Dow has returned from a month's visit at the home of her son, Charles Dow, at Missoula, Mont.
Miss Ruth Renden left Saturday evening to resume her studies at St. Olaf's College, Northfield, Minn.
Richard Key has returned from the twin cities, where he attended the Minnesota State Fair.
Regular meeting of Bismarck Chapter No. 10, R. A. M. Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the Masonic Temple. Important business. All members requested to attend.

Smoking Is American Habit.
Many efforts have been made to show that the use of tobacco was known to the ancient Greeks and Egyptians, but they never have been successful. The belief is generally accepted that the American aborigines were the first to make use of the weed and that Columbus was the first man to introduce its use.

SCOUT CALLED "TAM-E-YUKH-TAH" (CUT-OFF LEG)

Amos Chapman was a scout for Gen. Nelson A. Miles in the war with the southern plains tribes in 1874. One day, with Billy Dixon ("Hasta"—Long Hair) and four soldiers he was carrying dispatches from Miles' camp on McClelland creek in Texas to Camp Supply, Indian Territory, when they were surrounded by a war party of 125 Comanches and Kiowas.

At the first fire from the Indians Private Smith fell from his horse. His companions, believing him dead, abandoned the wounded man, and ran to a buffalo wallow, a depression in the ground about 100 yards away. The two scouts worked swiftly with their knives deepening the wallow while the three soldiers kept up a hot fire against the savages, who were riding at full speed in a fast-narrowing circle around them.

Suddenly Chapman noticed Private Smith trying to rise. "Boys, keep those infernal redskins off me and I'll run back and get Smith," he said to his companions. He laid down his rifle, sprang from the wallow, and under a hail of Indian bullets ran to where Smith lay. "Throwing himself beside the wounded man, the scout pulled Smith on his back and rose. As he staggered back towards the wallow, 15 Indians rode for him at full speed.

Dixon and his comrades opened up with a fierce fire to protect Chapman in his dash for safety. When he was only 20 yards from the wallow an Indian rode almost on top of him and fired. The scout fell, but since he did not feel any pain, he believed he had only stepped into a hole.

"Amos, you are badly hurt!" exclaimed Dixon as Chapman dropped beside him.

"No, I am not," declared the scout. "Look at your leg," replied "Hasta," and when Chapman looked he saw that one leg was shot off just above the ankle. He had been walking on the bone and dragging the foot behind him, but in the excitement of the moment he did not know it. His friends amputated the foot, bound up the wounds, held out against the assaults of the Indians until they were rescued by a company of soldiers. Their brave defense won special mention in General Miles' dispatches, and Chapman was given a medal of honor for his heroic act. Ever since that fight the Indians have called him "Tam-e-yukh-tah" or "The Man with the Cut-Off Leg."

FREDERICK WILLIAM SCHMALS. LE'S DARING RIDE

Down on the Washita river in Oklahoma one September day in 1874, Captain Lyman's company of the Fifth Infantry were fighting for their lives against 400 Kiowa and Comanche warriors who had surrounded the wagon train which they were escorting to General Miles' army.

That night Captain Lyman called for volunteers to make a dash through the Indian lines and ride to Camp Supply, 90 miles away, for help. The first to offer himself was Frederick William Schmals, a scout. Taking only a carbine and mounting the best horse in the command, Schmals slipped out of the corralled wagons and rode away. He was at once discovered by the Indians and while urging his horse to top speed the scout rode into a prairie dog town.

The horse stumbled, nearly throwing his rider over his head, then recovered and sped on. Schmals had lost his hat and carbine in the tumble, and the Indians were gaining on him. They would have caught him, too, if he had not run into a buffalo herd, which immediately stampeded. Bending low over his horse's neck the scout rode beside a big buffalo bull and succeeded in escaping the pursuing redskins. By this time he had lost all sense of direction. Finally reaching a stream which he recognized as the Canadian river, he knew he was headed in the right direction.

Recent rains had swollen the river to a torrent and an attempt to ford it in the darkness meant the chance of death from quicksand or floating driftwood. Dreading to wait until daylight, the scout began searching for a ford. Suddenly he heard dogs barking and knew he was near an Indian village. He must cross the river. Plunging in boldly he managed to reach the other bank in safety.

Dynbreak found him in broken country covered with thickets and in one of these he hid all day, hungry and thirsty. At nightfall the scout, with the North star as his guide set out again. After riding all night, he reached a hay camp at Wolf Creek, 20 miles from Camp Supply.

Stripping here only long enough to eat and to get a fresh horse, Schmals sped on to Camp Supply, which he reached soon after noon. While the relief expedition was being organized the scout slept—for two hours—and when the soldiers rode away to the rescue of their comrades Scout Schmals led the way and guided them safely to the wagon train within the next 20 hours.

Seattle Teacher and Brooklyn Girl Join in Unusual Marriage Ceremony.

New York.—The marriage by contract of Dr. Leslie Spier, professor of anthropology at Seattle university now teaching at Columbia, to Miss Erna Gunther of Brooklyn was announced today. The acknowledgment of their signatures to a marriage contract before Justice McCook constituted the ceremony. Such marriages are legal under a New York statute, but infrequent.

WAR PRICES DIED HARD IN TAMPICO

Money Came Easily in Mexico's Oil Metropolis and Was Spent With Lavish Hand.

EVERYTHING WENT SKY HIGH

Prosperity Continued After Most Other Communities Were Experiencing Setback—City Is Now Undergoing Readjustment.

Washington.—"Americans who saw prices skyrocket at home and who saw themselves and their neighbors nearly lose their sense of money values would have felt thoroughly at home in Tampico, the great Mexican oil town, during the last few years," says a bulletin issued from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

This was the port to which United States gunboats were sent recently when the closing down of American oil wells and refineries because of heavy Mexican taxes threw thousands of men out of work, and disorders were feared.

Floated to Prosperity on Oil.

"Tampico, long a port of no great importance, has had a mushroom growth in the last fifteen years," continues the bulletin, "its population increasing from less than 17,000 in 1903 to well over 100,000 today. And the explanation for this great stride forward can be given in one word—oil. The biggest 'gusher' the world has ever known was drilled near Tampico in 1905, and scores of other huge streams of oil have been opened up in the same vicinity since. Hundreds of millions of gallons of oil have passed through Tampico, and the town has been the financial and business headquarters for fields many miles away.

"Money flowed easily into the pockets of a large number of American managers and technical workers who were brought in, and into the hands of Mexican landowners, merchants and day laborers. The world war raised the demand for liquid fuel to unheard of heights and it seemed that everyone in Tampico was becoming wealthy. Conditions closely paralleled those in the oil towns of the United States. Silk shirts were not the vogue that they were among the loungers along every American Main street, but in their way Tampicoans became equally as proficient spenders. There was little inclination to 'count the change.' The cost of all articles of food and apparel rose tremendously. Rents soared until ordinary accommodations for Americans could not be obtained for much under $200 to $300 per month.

"Because the after-the-war industries of the world required petroleum no less than did the navies of the fighting nations during the war, Tampico's prosperity continued after most other communities whose business was quickened by the war were experiencing a setback. Now, belatedly, the city is undergoing the readjustment that came to the rest of the world.

Has More Freight Than Vera Cruz.

"Although Tampico owes its prosperity predominantly to oil, it has other factors that contribute to its importance. Thanks to a railroad from Monterey, connecting with the mining region of north-central Mexico, and to excellent harbor improvements, the town is an important port of entry and export. It has surpassed Vera Cruz in the bulk of commodities handled, though the latter city probably is the port of entry for products of greater aggregate value.

"The city of Tampico is not directly on the coast, but is situated a few miles up the Pánuco river, which is broad and deep at a ford and anchor age for a large number of ocean-going ships. At the mouth of the stream of La Barra is a supplementary harbor. Near the latter place is one of the finest sea beaches to be found.

"Until Tampico found its buried treasure and shook off its lethargy it was an exceedingly unhealthy place often being subject to epidemics of yellow fever. Drainage and the application of other modern methods of sanitation have greatly improved the health conditions. The families of numerous American and English employes of the big oil companies have moved in, and a thriving English speaking colony exists in the higher western part of the city."

SPORTS

PROPOSES BIG FOOTBALL GAME HERE ON OCT. 8

"Dutch" Houser Wants to See University of North Dakota and Jamestown Meet Here

Edgar "Dutch" Houser, of Napoleon, former Bismarck high school athlete, was in Bismarck late Saturday afternoon on his way to Grand Forks to enter the university. Houser is captain of the university football team this year and is enthusiastic over the prospects. There will be 25 out of 30 on Tuesday, he said. "Dutch" is in good condition, having won a big hard work during the summer, and he expects the scales around 150.

If Houser is successful in a plan he has under way Bismarck will see the university team in action. He wants the game scheduled for October 8 between the University of North Dakota and Jamestown college played in Bismarck. Decision rests with Jamestown college. "Dutch" believes that an enormous crowd would witness the game.

M'CLUSKY HIGH IN TRAP SHOOT

Many Good Shots Are Made In Sunday Tournament

Joe McClusky was high man in the trap shooting by local devotees of the sport at the new site of the proposed gun club on the Country club grounds. He broke 22 out of 25. Chris Henzler broke 21 out of 25; Dean Smith and Hoffman did the same and Richholt made a record of 20.

Officers will be elected for the new gun club and shoots held regularly.

Following are the scores made out of 25 shots: C. Rosen, 6; Finney, 6; C. W. Henzler, 19; C. Bertsch, 7; Geo. Elbert, 11; C. Bertsch, 4; C. Henzler, 21; Finney, 4; Rosen, 2; Gilman, 2; Frank Jaskowski, 11; James Stewart, 16; M. Henzler, 17; Rosen, 3; Erbe, 4; Stewart, 12; M. Henzler, 18; Geo. Brazier, 9; Hanson, 2; Hanson, 14; Richholt, 19; Joe McClusky, 22; Brazier, 12; Geo. Elbert, 15; Hanson, 6.

DICKINSON BALL CLUB HAS LOSS

Dickinson, N. D., Sept. 12.—A dance was given last week for the benefit of the Dickinson baseball club. It is probable that another dance will be given in the near future as the committee is anxious to wipe out the deficit.

MANY "IFS" MAR SEASON'S OUTLOOK

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 12.—Many "ifs" prevent Minnesota's football prospects from being optimistic for the approaching football season. Captain Laurence Teberg will assemble his squad of 1921 candidates for preliminary practice on September 15 and until then, advance opinion is conjectural.

If Arnold Oss, star halfback, has completely recovered from the injury to his knee, which prevented him from playing in true form last year; if Earl Martineau, stellar running mate of Oss, escapes scholastic ineligibility; if Trygve Johnson, former Gopher captain and one of Minnesota's best tackles, decides to return to school; if Festus Tierney, all Western guard in 1920, rejects an offer to play professional football and reports; if Oliver Aas and Earl Olson, two line-men from the 1920 freshman team, live up to expectations and if injuries do not handicap the squad, Minnesota will have a team which will be able to give battle to any of the conference aggregations.

Martineau, an exceedingly fast man and clever at open field running, is claimed to be the greatest punter to appear on Northrup field, and he shines also with the forward pass. He has more than the usual accomplishments of a backfield man in his stellar kicking, passing and running.

Dr. H. L. Williams the veteran coach will also have Harry Gilstad for fullback and Harry Brown at quarter, in addition to the halfback men, with Gilbert Larson always available to substitute any backfield position.

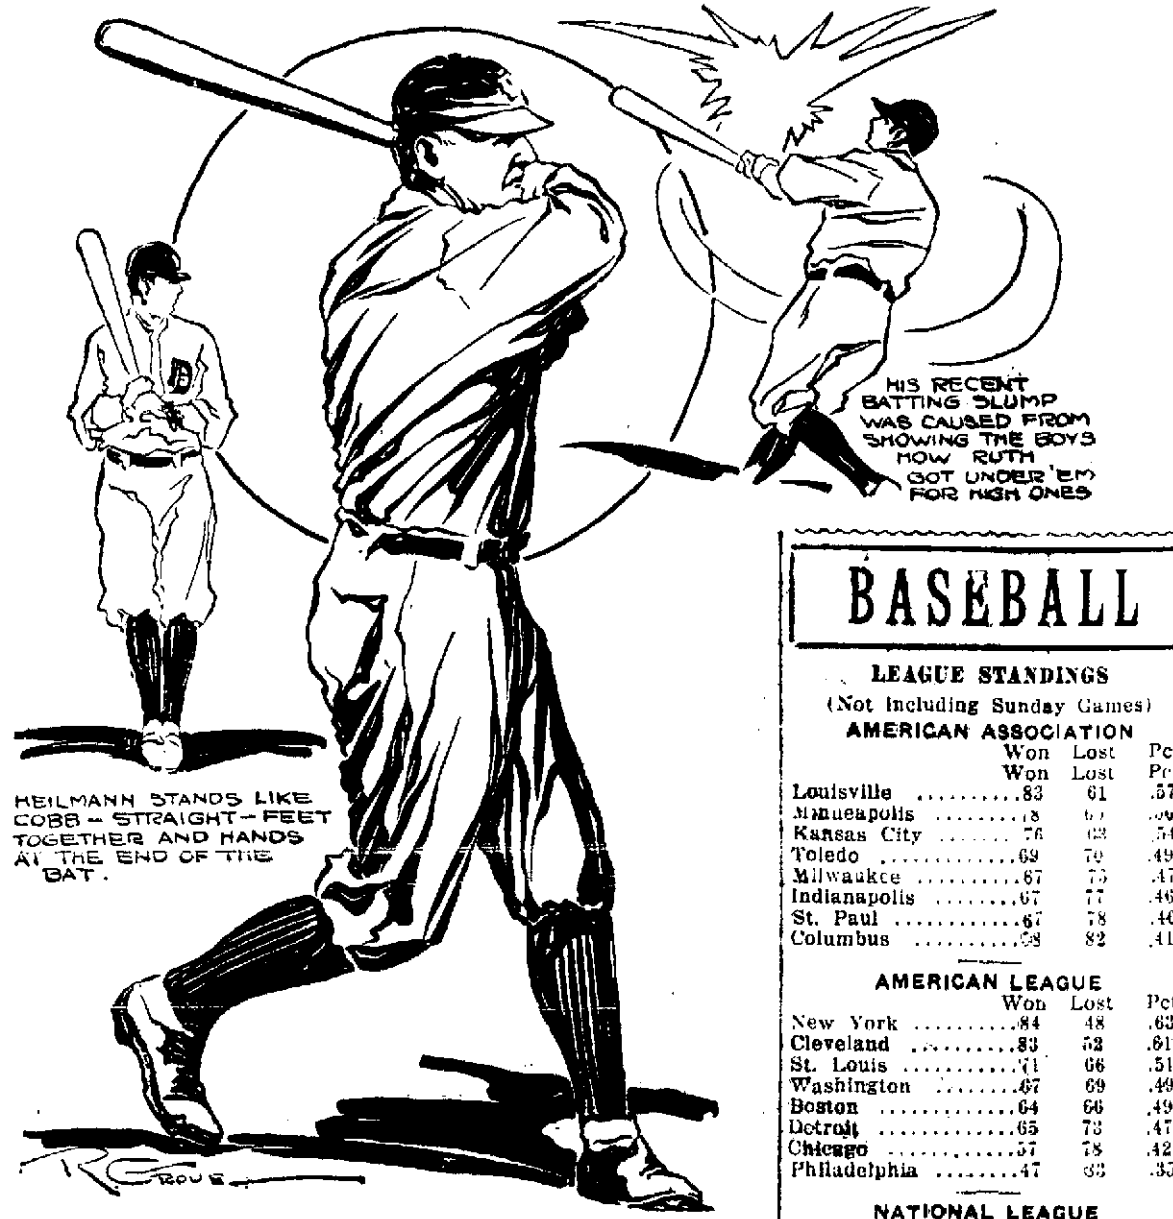

The line prospects are bright. Oliver Aas, sophomore and eligible for the first time this year, should undoubtedly wrest the pivotal position from Clements, last year's center, who probably will be used at one of the guards. Two "heavies" will form the bulwark of the line, with Teberg and Johnson at tackles. Both have had much experience and are expected to make a good showing in the conference games.

With Tierney at the other guard and with Bob Butler and Donald Wallace taking care of the end positions, the Gophers will present a line which combines speed and drive in a manner said to be ideally suited to the use of the famous Williams shift.

WHY DO SWATTERS SLUMP? HEILMANN-BLAMES RUTH

BY ROY GROVE.

When great swatters get together, what do they talk about? Babe Ruth! Batting slumps—And how to cure them! Frinastone, Harry Heilmann and Ty Cobb.

I just listened, only stepping on the gas when the conversation slowed up. "There are a hundred home-run hitters in the big leagues," opined Heilmann, "if it they had Babe Ruth's eyes. It's the eyes that do it; they control everything else, muscles, movement, swing, and make a man connect just right."

"That's it, eyes, not instinct," agreed Ty.

"My eyes—" started Heilmann. "Now don't get personal," the Detroit manager, suddenly warned his star right fielder and the league's leading swatter.

"Well, your eyes, then," said Heilmann. "Since Ty's eyes began to fade—"

"My eyes are all right," objected the Georgia Peach. "If I had to watch just one pitcher instead of a whole team—"

Ty needn't alibi. The Georgian who led the league for years in swatting. He has coached up a .400 hitter in his pupil, Heilmann.

"But there's no doubt about it," said Harry. "Babe is a phenomenal player; he's got something."

"A lot of fellows try to pull a 'Ruth' and before they know it they are breaking. They get mechanical, develop an unnatural swing and then spend weeks trying to figure out what's wrong."

"You know, don't you, Harry?" chirped Ty.

"You said it, Cobb and I had a dence of a time trying to find out the trouble in my slump. In practice, I had been showing the boys how Ruth got under them for high ones, and when I got to the plate I found I had steered myself into an unnatural swing."

"I was lifting the bat the same as in practice, leading forward and standing on my right foot."

"After I quit playing around before the games, I began to feel myself again and now I'm going smoothly."

"Well—yes—s," smiled Harry, in answer to my question, "there are two pitchers who bother me. Faber, of the White Sox, is one, and Harris of the Athletics, is another. It's hard to find those boys."

"No-o-o, there are no set rules for hard hitting. If a fellow has it in him to clout, it'll come out. Ty got hold of me, raised my aim, and a lot of other little details. That is the only reason I can account for a high 'ump.'"

Heilmann started with the Portland club in the Coast League in 1913. He got his first trial with Detroit in 1914. After an injury here, he was sent back to the Coast, later returning to the Tigers outfield, where he hit .300 the first season.

AND ON THE OTHER HAND

Princeton is preparing for a big football year. Additional seats are being added to the stadium. Fifty thousand people will be able to watch the Tigers fight their grid battles this fall. Coach Bill Roper will blow his whistle Sept. 15.

Princeton was conceded to be the best team in the east last fall. The graduation of Mike Cullahan, Joe Scheerer, Bob Legardre, Whitely Thomas and Davis leaves holes to fill. Scheer's mighty kicking toe will be missed most.

Johnny and Bryan went into the ring.

And provoked a lot of laughter. "Cause Johnny fell down in the public eye."

EAST COAST BOYS SHOW UP DADS IN YACHT RACES

By N. E. A. Service. Boston, Sept. 12.—Like the three mythical men whose exploits in a tug have become famous in the nursery, these robust and sun-browned boys in a boat have become famous overnight in Atlantic coast yachting circles. The three boys are the junior representatives of the Pleon Yacht Club of Marblehead. They have just won the Massachusetts Junior Yachting championship, and incidentally, have made yachting history of the east. They have participated in a new departure in yachting events which, next year, will include all of the yacht clubs on the Atlantic coast and possibly become national in scope.

with Vepper and A. G. Wood, Jr. All three are sons of Boston business men and Massachusetts yachtsmen.

In winning the championship, it was necessary for them to eliminate the representative junior crews of 10 other Massachusetts yacht clubs.

The Pleon boys eliminated, one by one, crews from the following clubs: Andisquam, Manchester, Cottage Park, Wollaston, Beverly, Cohasset, Hingham, Duxbury and New Bedford.

On what was to be the last day of the race, the Pleon crew found itself tied for the honors with the Corinthian Yacht Club of Marblehead. The tie was run off before crowds nearly as large as those that gather for the American cup races off Sandy Hook.

The event was conducted by the Eastern Yacht Club, which will promote the Atlantic coast affair next year.

Next year, if present plans materialize, Marblehead will be the scene of a double set of junior championships, one for Massachusetts and one for the Atlantic coast.

Plans already are being formulated for the promotion of a Maine junior championship in Penobscot Bay. Oyster Bay yachtsmen are planning a similar championship regatta on Long Island Sound, while the Atlantic Yacht Club will arrange for the championships for Lower New York and New Jersey.

Other yacht clubs interested are the Philadelphia-Corinthian, New Port, Fall River, Providence and Jamestown. These represent nearly all of the states touching on the Atlantic coast.

The winners of the various state championships will meet at Marblehead for the final series of races to decide the coast championship.

TWO NEW YORK TEAMS ARE IN BASEBALL LEAD

New York, Sept. 12.—Teams representing New York and St. Louis monopolized first and third places in the major leagues today.

The Giants were leading the National circuit with 84 wins and 48 losses, and the Yankees had a twelve point advantage over Cleveland. Occupying third place in the National League were the St. Louis Cardinals, about 50 points behind Pittsburgh, while their fellow townsmen, the Browns, in third place in the American organization, were over 100 points from Cleveland.

Stories of Great Scouts By Elmo Scott, Watson

S. Western Newspaper Union.

EDGAR S. PAXSON, THE SCOUT WHO WAS A PAINTER

Col. Edgar S. Paxson was a scout who became a painter. He worked for 20 years on one painting before it was completed, and when the old scout's masterpiece was done, it was declared to be the most accurate picture of Custer's last battle ever painted. It made Paxson famous.

Paxson was a New Yorker who went to Montana in the early seventies. He became a cowpuncher, a hunter and trapper. When Chief Joseph led his Nez Perce warriors on their 1,000-mile dash for freedom in 1877, Paxson enlisted as a scout with the United States troops and served with them until Chief Joseph was cornered in the Bear Paw mountains and surrendered to General Miles.

After the Nez Perce war was over, Paxson returned to Deer Lodge, Mont., and opened a studio. He had always wanted to paint pictures and he took for his subjects the things he knew best—cowboys, Indians, hunters and trappers. Then he conceived the idea of a painting of the greatest Indian battle in American history—Custer's last fight with the Sioux and Cheyennes on the Little Big Horn.

For years Paxson gathered information about the battle. He went over the battlefield again and again until he was familiar with every foot of it; he talked with Indians who had fought against Custer, and he sought officers and men who had served with Reno and Benteen to get their stories of the fight. He learned everything he could of the position of every man in the Seventh cavalry on that fateful day in June 1876.

Paxson was engaged seven years in the actual painting of the picture. His work was interrupted during this time by his service in Cuba during the Spanish-American war and in the Philippines. After the war was over he returned to his work and the picture was completed.

In this painting Paxson showed the figures of more than 200 soldiers, Indians and scouts. It contained the portraits of 38 members of Custer's command, painted from photographs. Every detail of the battle was shown historically accurate, so far as it is possible to know how Custer and his men perished. The painting has been on exhibition in the largest cities of the United States and is now hangs in the library of the Montana State university at Missoula. It is valued at $25,000.

In 1879 Paxson laid down the scout's rifle to take up the painter's brush. Forty-one years later he laid down the brush. Colonel Paxson died in Missoula, November 9, 1919.

George D. Shaw, Springfield, Mass.

"To say that I am seventy-five years younger, twenty-five years healthier and twenty-five years better expressed than I was at the time of the Civil War, is to say that I am better than I ever was," said George D. Shaw, of Springfield, Mass., who was 21 in the Civil War, and who has lived to see the world change around him.

"I never miss a chance of saying a good word for Tanlac and I would like to tell the boys of the 'Sixties' who are now feeling right to give it a trial, for I am sure it would put them in as good a state just as it has me. For a man of my age to have no physical ailment, to be well and strong and energetic as he did twenty-five years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

SCANDINAVIAN FIRMS WOULD HAVE FRANCE REMOVE BLACK LISTS

Copenhagen, Sept. 12.—In Scandinavian circles there is a growing feeling against the keeping up by France of her Black Lists, established by law of February 15, 1917. These lists keep Scandinavian firms from doing legitimate business with their old customers, not only German customers, but firms in Scandinavia, firms of high repute and standing.

Financial and commercial circles in Stockholm and Copenhagen are now attempting to put pressure on the Swedish and Danish governments to move in this matter and demand of France the repeal of this war act.

In some circles there exist even a tendency toward retaliation against France because, it is alleged here, French firms are actually dealing direct with German and blacklisted firms and at the same time the French government prevents neutral companies from doing the same.

In insurance circles the feelings may be gauged from the tenor of the following quotation from the official Scandinavian insurance journal: "We consider it a great impertinence that the names of highly respected Scandinavian companies—insurance and otherwise—today, nearly three years after the signing of the armistice, still figure on the French Black Lists as a punishment for conducting their business on strictly neutral lines. We know that prominent French insurers look eye to eye with us in this matter and feel ashamed that their country is keeping up a measure abandoned long ago by America, England, Italy and her other partners in the great war. The act of February 15 must be repealed and the Black Lists must go. Even the neutral worm will turn."

At the end of last March Premier Vanakoa said the kingdom had a surplus of more than 100,000 pounds revenue over its expenditure after paying for all public works.

Males reaching the age of sixteen are granted their land and must plant enough coconuts, yams and other food to sustain their families and to pay their educational tax, which practically completes their civic duties, he said.

The premier has an attractive personality. His English is excellent, although he confesses to a slight timidity because all his education was obtained in a Tongan school. He has been premier since 1912.
